Order of Business—The Arkansas Trou bles-The President on the District

Investigation. WASHINGTON, May 19 .- A caucus of Re publican Senators yesterday decided to pass the Edmund's resolution for adjournment ine die June 22d. They also determined not to take up the Clayton resolution for a committee to investigate the Arkansas af livil Rights bill be taken up after the legisative appropriation bill and kept before the Senate until disposed of.

Special to the Cincinnati Commercial of to-day. The Arkansas war has stirred up a good leal of feeling among the prominent men of that State who are here, and the Baxter adherents are particularly threatening. It is asserted that the checks given by Senator Dorsey to members of the Arkansas Legislaure for and in consideration of their votes east for him to be United States Sentor, are in the hands of General Albert Pike, who is in the city, and who is a warm friend of Baxter's. These he proposes to use against the Brooks ring in case in opportunity is offered. Many of these checks have never been paid, it is said. fortune with which Dorsey has been credited is moonshine, and that the financial difficulties in which he is involved are equally as troublesome as those of a political nature, which threaten to drive him from the Sen-

The President has managed to keep quiet in regard to the District investigation until re cently, and his opinions have been the sub ject of much speculation. A day or two ago he first opened his mouth on the subject stating in conversation with a prominent member of the House that he feared that, as a result of the investigation, Congress would adjourn without passing any measure of relief in the way of money appropriation and consequently the Republican party would go to the country this fall to meet the charge which would certainly be made that under its administration the District of Columbia had been allowed to become bankrupt and ruined in credit.

[Special to the Cincinnati Enquirer of to-day.] The Committee on Banking and Currency had up to-day the Senate Finance bill providing for free banking. A proposition to report the bill as it was originally proposed by Mr. Sherman's committee was rejected, as was also a proposition to report the Senate bill as it then stood. A third proposition to ask the House to refer the bill to them, with leave to report at any time, was carried, and the House moved this order. The committee have another subject assigned for tomorrow, and will not be able to consider the Currency Bill before Wednesday. There is Currency Bill perore wednesday. There is so much diversity of opinion among the members that probably all they will be able to agree upon will be to report back the bill and Senate amendments to the House, proforma, so as to let that body pass upon the expection. A prominent Western Republican member to-day expressed the opinion that this unusual procedure on the part of the President in threatening a veto had only served to strengthen the bill. At this date the passage of the Senate bill without material change is highly probable. An Executive veto of the bill is not less probable, and a debate, with considerable spice and animation over the veto, is among the possibilities of a not distant future. rally located, and but half square from a first-class boarding house. of a not distant future.

It seems to be accepted all around that the President is actively in quest of a Secretary of the Treasury, and much puzzled to find the proper man, owing to the great dearth of executive ability in the Republican party. There is talk of John Scott, of Pennsylvania, and Justin Morrill, of Vermont, It seems to be taken for granted that only a hardmoney man and contractionist will fill the bill for this place. Meantime, there is a good deal of talk about Mr. Richardson's name being sent in as Judge of the Court of Claims. The debate to-marrow may seriously affect his chances. of a not distant future. two inches long. 12 in diameter. Octagon nut in the end, and thread on inside. The House showed marked opposition to day to an attempt to interfere with the Arkansas trouble. The Brooks party in Congress have been extremely active since the President's proclamation in a plan te renew the fight in one or the other house through a select committee. In addition to tke effort made in the Senate caucus, Judge Poland, in the House, tried to pass the resolution for the select committee to visit makes his principal business to look after street contracts. Arkansas and see if the State had a government republican in form. His proposition, however, instead of the necessary two-thirds did not even receive a majority, the vote standing 94 to 105. The result in each house was to give the President's course thorough

In regard to the card published in the in-terest of ex-Minister Webb, claiming that some of the dispatches are lost in regard to the matter in question, the answer of the State Department is that all of Mr. Webb's dispatches were numbered, and the whole series is now complete. There has been no explanation of the fact that $25,000 of the fund in dispute was deposited by Mr. Webb to his own private account in London. Judge Hoar read the entire correspondence of Webb in regard to the matter before he made the statement on the floor of the House. The department is anxious to have Mr. Webb return to his country, and it is said on the card he will.

Is There Really any Famine in Bengal? [Indian Correspondence of the Pall Mall Gasette.] People here are now beginning to assert that the Bengal famine, in the sense in which the English press has taken up these words, does not exist. Allowing for the difference of population, fewer people seemed to have perished from want of food than in London perished from want of food than in London during ordinary years. It is now three months since the so called famine districts with their 25,000,000 of people were placed under the strictest surveillance. They have a vast residual population of lepers, cripples, diseased and emanciated persons, without any system of almshouses or public relief of any system of almanouses or public relief of any sort. Most of these live in a chronic state of half-starvation, and many die every year from want of food. The latest famine reports gives the total of such deaths "at from twelve to twenty." Take the Coroners' inquests for London during the same period, multiply the cases of death from want of food by each to and compare the result in a food by eight, and compare the result in a city where such cases are not searched out, and where a most ample organization for re-lief exists, with similar deaths in "famine-stricken" Bengal.

It has frequently been said that the city printing should be let out to the lowest bidder, but the members are not warm in their seats before an attempt is made to dispose of it in the same old way by giving it to a wouldbe organ, as a reward for betraying its original friends and supporters. If the Democracy expect to keep the control of this city or to get the control of the county, they will have to improve on the management of the Republicans, and they are not making a start at it in continuing the practice that brought their predecessors into reproach. We don't care who does the printing, provided it is done as cheaply as possible, but if it is given out to an organ, the city will pay three prices.

While many of the old members should have been dismissed there were some who should have been retained, if for no other reason than to maintain the efficiency of the force. It may be a dangerous experiment to make such a complete change. Look Ahead.

A pelican, flying home one day
With a fine fat fish from Oyster Bay,
Was met by a grow, who had sought in vain
For something to still its hunger's pain—
And who knew that fish was good for the brain
So he siyly said, 'Why, friend, what's in you.
To carry a fish at a full neek's length?

Is that any way to economize strength? Is that any way to economize strength? I call it a waste of muscle and sinew. I call it a waste of muscle and sinew.

Just throw your head over your shoulder, so—
You distribute the weight over all your frame,
You can carry a double load of game,
And thus, without tiring, home you go!''
The pelican did as his talse friend bade,
But striking a bough he came to wreck,
And down he fell with a broken neck,
And the crow had a royal dinner of shad.

I wrote this table for three little men.
Whose names are Willle and Arthur and Jack
And this is the moral, clear and plain:
When you run forward, don't look back."

Looking Back.

I may live long, but some old days
Of dear, deep joy akin to pain—
Some suns that set on woodland ways
Will never rise for me again:
By shining sea, and glad, green shore
That frolic waves ran home to kiss,
Some words I heard that nevermore
Will thrill me with their mystic bliss,

O love! still throbs your living heart— You have not crossed death's sullen tide. A deeper deep holds us apart; We were more near if you had died— If you had died in those old days When light was on the shining sea, And all the fragrant woodland ways Were paths of hope for you and me.

Dead leaves are in those woodland ways— Cold are the lips that used to kiss: Twere idle to recall those days, Or sign for all that vanished bliss! Or sign for all that vanished blass:
Do you still wear your 'old time grace,
And charm new loves with ancient wiles?
Could I but watch your faithless face,
I'd know the meaning of your smiles.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

A Terrible Condition of Affairs in Charleston - Financial Ruin Brooding over the City.

Correspondence N. Y. Sun.]

Such is a leaf from the book. It speaks for itself. There are Sumters and Moultries among the names. Even the grave of John C. Calhoun is in danger of being sold for non-payment of taxes. Most singular of all, a dead negro Congressman appears among the delinquents. These incongruities exhibit delinquents. These incongruities exhibit the widespread ruin that must be laid at the door of the robbers ruling the State. All classes suffer, from the haughtiest descend-ants of the Huguenots down to those who were once the meanest of their slaves. While I was wondering whether its owners really intended to let all this property go by default, I met Captain Young of the yacht Eleanor beneath the facade of the Charleston The Captain has lived here over 30 years. He boasts no blue blood, but belongs to what is termed the middling class of society, and is consequently not so apt to be inged with prejudices.

"Sacrifice their property, sir?" he repeated in answer to my question; "why, good God, sir, what can they do? They can't pay their taxes. Property that would have brought twenty thousand dollars before the war can now be bought for less than two thousand, but it is assessed for from four to six thousand. And look at the assessments. State tax two and a half per cent., city two and a half, county as much more, besides special and Federal taxes—good God, sir, do fidels, but neglect to state whether they are vou expect our people to pay the national wanted for conversion or cremation. mous local taxes if our property was assessed in accordance with your custom at the North. Now in New York property that would sell at $10,000 is valued at $5,000 or $6,000—even lower—and a nominal two and a half per cent. is really not more than one and a quarter. Here our carpet baggers would put a $20,000 or $30,000 valuation on that same $10,000 piece of property. What is the difference? Our nominal tax would be from seven and a half to ten per cent., but our real tax would amount to double or even treble that sum. The difference between you New Yorkers and us South Carolinians taking the same piece of property as a basis of reckoning, is the difference between one and a quarter per cent. and fifteen or twenty per cent. And vet you New Yorkers damn Tammany ring, and think your taxes are enormous. Why, good God, sir, the Tammany ring here would be hailed as a bless-We are bound hand and foot, and can't stir. il their burden has become insupportable. We are being devoured alive."

THE CONDUCT OF THE BOBBERS. The Captain was terribly in earnest. "Why, good God, sir, look at your Legisla-ture!" he exclaimed. "Before the war its expenses were $20,000 per session, and we had the ablest men in the State among its members. Now a session costs us $400,000, and we have the meanest thieves in the Comnonwealth among the members. war our State printing cost us $5,000 a year; now it costs $300,000. We have been plundered and robbed until our State bonds are not worth ten cents on the dollar, and the robbery still goes on. Your Norther Congressmen lounge in their seats and laugh at it. Why, good God, sir, the negroes by themselves were bad enough; but they were angels compared with the crowd of thieves and adventurers that have descended upon us rom the North. They have swept the State s clean as a swarm of locusts. thing is left. We are absolutely cleaned out. and the land is not absolutely worth the taxs levied upon it.'

"Do you think," I inquired, "that this taxation is part of a plan through which the carpet baggers and negroes are trying to seare possession of your property?"
"No, I do not," the Captain responded.

The President's Probable Course.

[Dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat.]
The President does not disguise his gredissatisfaction with the Finance bill as it passed the Senate yesterday. He asserted to a member of Congress that he could not approve any less conservative bill than the on reported by the Finance Committee, and at the same time he expressed his disapproval of the bill as it passed in very strong terms. Many of those who favor expansion, however, both in the House and in the Senate favor the passing of the bill even in the face for the House to adopt, as a substitute, the bill as reported from the Senate Finance Committee, in the belief that it is the best bill for which the signature of the President can be obtained. There is an attempt mak ing, however, to still bring about a compro-mise between the friends of the bill as it came from the committee, and as it finally passes, and Speaker Blaine is active with this party. One change suggested is to fix forty per cent. as the proportion of greenbacks to be retired.

It does make a difference whose ox is gored. At present, the inflation papers are feeling terribly cut up over the brutality of Tom Nast, who has actually dared to represent Morton as a swaggering rufflan with a bindgeon, Logan as a noisy swashbuckler, and the like. When this same fellow expended his delicate humor in a caricature of Charles Sumner at the grave of Preston Brooks, or gracefully depicted Mr. Greeley as a hog, these critical persons, saw no brutality about it. And we cannot but admire the air of surprised innocence with which they discover the sordid and mercenary character of Nast and the paper he works for.

The picnic by the Knights of Pythias on Thursday promises to be a grand affair. Lodges will visit Edinburg from Franklin. Jeffersonville, Columbus, and other places besides Indianapolis. A procession will form in Edinburg, at 10 o'clock. Fidelity Lodge has made complete arrangements for the comfort of their guests on the fair grounds.

A three year old tot on North Pennsylva-nia street, had a fashion of calling every male she saw or met, "men" and her mother one day reproved her and said, she ought to call them "gentlemen." She readily took up the suggestion, and called every body "gentlemen," and that night on going to bed wound up her prayer by ejaculating "A Gentleman."

The new Fire Department ordinance we passed by the Conneil last night, changed from the original publication only in the cutting off the clause providing for a fuel and supply wagon. Under the Wheel. Last evening a man, supposed to be Andrew Commerson, of Bellepoint, Delaware county, Ohio, came out of a canal "palace" and attempted to clamber upon an I. C. & L, freight, which was passing between New York and Ohio streets. Missing his grasp, he was thrown under the cabooose trucks, dismembering the lower limbs and right arm, and producing almost immediate death. The remains were removed to Hedges & Lyon's, and an inquest ordered for to-morrow evening. Followed to Beath.

A Journal reporter, of recent importation, who occasionally takes a little, not for his stomach's sake, but for his brein, recently informed a credulous bar-keeper that the crusaders had bored him almost to death since his arrival here. They had followed him on the streets, had rendered his boarding house almost uninhabitable, and had even invaded his place of business. To such an extent had these persecutions been carried, that he had been obliged to buy them off by subscribing fifty dollars to a fund aised some time since.

Finance Report.

The Finance Committee of the Council have agreed upon the following statement and recommendation:

That of loan bonds issued by the city at interest That of loan bonds issued by the city at interest during the latter part of the year 1872, and payable two years from date, with 8 per cent interest, there is outstanding $400,000. These bonds become due as follows: $100,000, July 1, 1874; $100,000, August 12, 1874; $100,000, September 17, 1874; $100,000. November 1, 1874. The Finance Committee recommend that the first $100,000 falling due be taken up with funds now in the Treasury at maturity, viz., July 1, 1874; and that the remaining $300,000 be taken up with the proceeds of twenty year bonds bearing 73-10 interest, to be issued under the provisions of the ordinance referred to, which is reported back with the recommendation that it be passed by the Council, the sale of such new issue of bonds to be made to the highest bidder on sealed proposals to be received at the Treasurer's office on the 20th of July next. In the event of the sale of such bonds and the retiring of the two years bonds referred to. Mart. A Neat Insurance Game Exposed The Franklin Life Insurance Company has anearthed a neat little game by which Mrs. D. K. Boswell sought to realize on a $10,000 life policy held by her husband in this Company. Mr. D. K. was insured in September, 1871, and in September '72, himself and wife started on a Missouri trip, and on the night of the 22d it was reported that he had been blown up by a steamboat explosion. Mrs. B. returned to this city and laid claim to the $10,000, also to a $5,000 policy held in the Travellers', which was afterward compre mised by the payment of $2,500. The Franklin refused settlement at once, on the ground that the insured had not paid up his secon annual premium, then overdue, and sui was brought by Mrs. Boswell in the Delaware. county courts. Quite recently information was received that Boswell was still living, and a resident of Galesburg, Ill., to which place President Hubbard proceeded and identified him, and yesterday Mrs. B. was arrested at Muncie and placed under $500 was reported to the Council that hereafter The Travellers Insurance Company, from they wouldn't lay mains upon a street until whom she obtained $2,500, is yet to hear

Who of the new police appointees were mixed up in that powder business some weeks ago?

Cooley Newcomb has joined the clerical force at Colclazer's, vice Lou Manheimer who goes into business on his own hook.

Is one of the new police appointees the same party whose wife for the past year has washed for part of the proceeds which he squandered in drink?

Is one of the new police appointees in any way counected with the fellow who forged an order on the County Auditor for a whisky license, or something of the sort?

The Police Board must have had in view the pleasing of all classes, for while some of the police appointments are first rate-there are others who are desperately bad.

Major Jonathan W. Gordon is lying danger. outly ill at his residence. His complaint is Paid for relief of Patriarshs. Paid for relief of widowed something like pneumonia. He had a severe hemorrhage yesterday and serious doubts of his recovery are entertained.

Amusements. At the present writing there is no indication of an impending storm, notwithstanding the concert of Prof. Pearsall this evening. Under the usual moist circumstances the Academy should be filled, and with a fair sky snything less than a crowd will be a shame. Everybody knows and honors the Old Professor, and none should slight this occasion to make him substantially aware kirk. The report closes with a bright outof it Leaving this out of the case, the concert will be one that should fill the house, as many of the best musicians of the city will participate in the performances. Vogt's orchestra, the Maennerchor, Messrs Bahr, Newland, Cameron, Kothe, Soehner, Stedman, and Father Pearsall, furnish the instrumental part, while Mrs. Halford, Mrs. Spades, Mrs. Hammond, Miss Gehle, Prof. Ors Pearson, Father Pearsall, and various Italians do the vocal.

To-morrow night the Club with many leters, to-wit, D. Y. W. Y. K., will give one of their fine performances. It is unnecessary to remind those who witnessed their Invitation Soiree, that the entertainment will be first class. The gentlemen composing the club are our own citizens and deserve recomplition for their efforts to give a performance that shall give pleasure without ofense, as is not always the case with profesals. The box sheet already foreshadows a full house and is rapidly filling up.

The Strakosch Italian Opera Troupe with Mme. Lucca at the head, will give two perormances on the 28th and 29th, on which on copious sketches from Faust, Lucretia Borgia, Martha, Mignon, Aida, L'Afriine. Huguenots, etc., will be given. The pany consists of Lucca, Maresi, Anna Louise Cary, Tom Karl, Capoul, Nannetti, colers, Boy, etc.
